... Modify file creation and modification dates, by entering a new date and time. You can also mark the date and time as duplicated, so that each time the file is edited, the current time of the computer is automatically inserted into the file creation and modification dates. To mark the date and time as duplicated, select a "Duplicate" check box at the top of the application interface. The application allows you to mark the date and time of the modified files. This way, if a file is opened in your computer, then a new date and time will be inserted. You can also set the application as the default printer. KeyMACRO features: KeyMACRO can also mark a specified number of files as duplicated. If you select "Mark as duplicate" the number of times that a file will be marked as duplicated will be set. KeyMACRO interface: KeyMACRO display: Product key: Platform: Actions (first letters): Target: Categories: Applications: Author's description Using the program interface The applications Other programs (using the same language): The file/folder tree display Recent documents Moving a file from one folder to another The folder File The file on the desktop The properties The tags The system settings Using the wizard interface Closing the application Searching for a file Creating an empty file Starting with an empty file Setting the modified date Setting the modified and modified date Setting the date, using the standard interface 2edc1e01e8
